IN HIS LATEST ARTICLE,
"Coolidge's Childhood," just published in the June number of Cosmopolitan Magazine, Calvin Coolidge writes, "My father was a good trader." He tells how his father bought a house, blacksmith shop, barn, several other buildings and two acres of land for $775, and sold the barn for $195.

That was good trading 50 years ago.
Paris reports modern trading.
The Allies wanted $200,000,000 in gold every year for 58 years.
Schacht offered Germany
$20,000,000 annually for 57 years. France offers to settle for $100,000,000 a year.

Important is the fact that a settlement probably will be reached. The total will be less than it would have cost Germany to keep up her gigantic army and standing army.

Germany will pay and grow rich, while some of her neighbors will remain poor—supporting debts big enough to hold Germany down.

A country without a newspaper is like a man without a voice. The Vatican realizes it, and the important Osservatore Romano will move its offices to Vatican City, a small plot of ground upon which the Pope's temporal power is officially responsible for Italy's government.

The Pope probably finds compensation in the knowledge that his spiritual power is acknowledged by hundreds of millions all over the world.

An interesting tariff fight now begins.
Cuba must pay a heavy duty on sugar, rice and manufactured goods from the Philippines will continue coming in duty free.

This will make our Filipino friends realize that there are advantages in a United States partnership.

Tobacco farmers have met to hope for the "government declared subsidy plan." Middlemen dealing in farm products will get the profit while growers lose.

Calvin Coolidge, as director of the New York Life Insurance Company, arrived 20 minutes ahead of time for his first directors' meeting yesterday.

Street show a man diligent to his business. He should stand before kings.

The former President is interested in life insurance. He has profit, but for possibilities of public work. His day's work yesterday paid $50; not much according to present deed. But it is 50 times as much as the idea's father said the black bucksmith who earned in the gold of 50 years ago.

Prisoners have changed. One ancient hero, solitary in prison, had to encourage him only the example of a hunchy spider appearing and respawning a web as fast as it is torn down.

A well-known oil magazine, Jellison, has been an assistant dinner Senator's questions, has the deeper, pleasanter inspiration of a blonde traitress.

In the medical department of the jail, this blonde lady works for the sick and suffering, and as to her oil, she is an assistant, worth $100,000,000; "Please hand me that iodine," or "Watch how I fix this bandage."

Much can be learned in such an atmosphere.

The United States army presented an imaginary "Spider of the United States" on Long Island yesterday. In imagination the enemy had landed cavalry, infantry and artillery on our coast. Our army with great courage, theoretically, drove the enemy into the sea.

Fortunately the United States defense officials are not so nationalistic.

In any enemy army invades this country it will come with a thousand airplanes and more.
And this country will know about it when big buildings crumble in our greatest cities, and populations in the streets or rush to the country to escape danger.

'Fraud in This Whole Transaction'

"Fraud permeated this whole transaction," reports the Finance Commission on the $1,750,000 Exchange at deal, adding, among other findings:
That fraud was "manifest in the fact that the Mayor, instead of stopping the deal, took to task a reporter for warning the public of what was to happen, and in the Mayor's use for this single doubtful undertaking of practically all the money available for street improvement for the year."
And that fraud was "manifest in the payment to Herbert F. Winslow of the extra $40,770 by the First National Bank and Lee, Higginson & Co., and in Winslow's untruthful and misleading answers before the Finance Commission."

REPORT TO GOV. ALLEN DEMANDS

Legislature Act on Waste

The Exchange at, widening land purchase which cost Boston $1,750,000 was "permeated with fraud," the Boston Finance Commission announced today in its report of findings to Governor Allen and the Legislature.

Declaring it useless to call upon the Mayor and the city law department to institute action on behalf of the city in this case, the Finance Commission submitted its findings to the Governor and General Court "for such action or legislation as will enable the taxpayers of Boston to obtain redress."

"The testimony heard before the commission disclosed the most flagrant case of waste of the taxpayers' money by public officials brought to its attention since the commission was created," said the report.

"In the judgment of the commission fraud permeated this whole transaction."

"It is manifest in the price paid by the city."

"It is manifest in the haste with which one move followed another."

"It is manifest in the urgency with which the chairman of the Street Commissioners begged the mayor for authority to widen Exchange st. immediately after conferring with him."

"It is manifest in the employment of six subservient appraisers."

Instead of getting competent expert advice or consulting the city's own assessing department.

"It is manifest in the misleading information given by Freeman and Harley to the five appraisers."

"It is manifest in the uniformity of the high appraisals."

"It is manifest in the inaction of the Finance Commission."

EIGHT AMERICANS TO MEET QUEEN TONIGHT

Prize Drummer

SOCIETY MEETS PRESENTATION AMID THRILLS

London, May 9 (AP)—Queen Mary, American tennis queen, in elegant gown and plumed hat, will appear tonight before Queen Mary in the first presentation of the season at the Court of St. James. Partaking in this evening's presentation also will be seven other American girls. Many again from the United States will be presented Queen Mary in the second court to be held tomorrow night at Buckingham Palace.

It was a day of thrills and anticipation for those so honored, with crowded hours of rush, hurry and finally tedious waiting.

There is at the end of it all, though, 30 seconds of splendor, the half minute involved in the short trip across the throne room to where England's queen will sit alone on the Imperial dais, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family ranged behind her.

The half-minute, however, will be such as to afford priceless memories for those enjoying it. The Buckingham Palace courts have come to be the most splendid of the royal functions surviving democratic encroachments, and tonight's spectacle will be the same magnificent scene of former years, with the sparkle of jewels, brilliance of uniforms and the procession of women attired in fashion's finest.

Perhaps the most difficult part of the presentation will come with the time of waiting for the presentation of the long queue of automobiles will form on the mail outside the palace.

In the clothes to be worn at the presentation there are two notable departures. The traditional white has been abandoned in some instances for pastel shades, while there are to be fewer flowers and more furs.

DRUG SELLERS GET 2 YEARS IN PRISON

Ralph Repetto of Somerville collapsed after his plea of guilty to an indictment charging sale of heroin in Federal Court today and had to be revived before sentence could be imposed by Judge Brewster.

Thomas Morandi, acquitted of murder in connection with the gang war of that name in the North End a few weeks ago, and indicted with Repetto on the drug charge, also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in Plymouth jail.

Judge Brewster indicated a term of two years in Atlanta for 25 points.

He and a woman companion were recently arrested as fugitives from justice in a Braintree raid.

Their joint indictment followed sales of heroin to narcotics dealer in Somerville in June of last year.

Links Levine With Motorcycle Deal

New York, May 9 (AP)—The New York World said today that reports were current that Charles A. Levine, first Atlantic air passenger, had purchased the Indian Motorcycle Company of Springfield, Mass., and would convert it into an aircraft motor factory.

The newspaper quoted Louis B. Bauer, president of the company, as saying in Boston that control of the company had passed to a Wall Street group, but that he was unaware whether the new interests represented Levine.

"No criminal responsibility" in the death of Bernice Chmielewski, 17, and her sister, Jeanette, 18, wealthy Brooklyn girls, was the finding of Judge Nash of Queens court today, following an inquest conducted by him in March.

The girls were fatally injured in an automobile accident on the Southern Artery on the early morning of Thanksgiving Day. James Graham of Newton held the driver. Graham was badly injured.

Judge Nash, in his report, mentioned that the car turned over after the wheels struck the left edge of the road while attempting to pass another car, going in the same direction, on the right hand side.

Four suits totaling $100,000 and pertaining to the death of Mrs. Katherine S. Gardner of Braintree, due to gas from leaky pipes, was brought in Norfolk Superior Court in Dedham today by her husband, George W. O. Gardner.

The Old Colony Gas Company of Braintree and Arthur C. Troiano, contractor who laid the pipe mains for the company, are each charged with negligence in the manner of laying the pipes.

Find Runaway Pier High, Dry on Land So Man Is Held

WHEN a wharf disappears it's a joke. When it vanishes a second time it's a mystery. And police, investigating the second disappearance of the wharf of the Britt Brothers boat yard on the Saugus river in Lynn, today summoned John Kowalska of River st. pl. to court tomorrow.

Kowalska is charged with wilfully and maliciously destroying property. Police say he was seen leaving the wharf last Sunday night and he was forced to put it back, although he explained he found it drifting.

It was missing again today and was found, police allege, in his back yard, stranded high and dry at the high tide mark. Kowalska said it floated there.

He is the husband of the woman who went on a hunger strike in Salem jail. Neighbors paid her liquor fines, freeing her so she could return to her six children.

'ANTI-HOOVER' SENATE MAJORITY MAY RULE TARIFF

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Senate administration leaders were wondering today whether the Democratic-Republican-Independent combination which upset the apparently stalwart Republican majority in the first test of strength on the farm bill would stand together and write the tariff measure, too.

Despite a margin of 15 votes on paper, the forces of Herbert Hoover in the Senate were not answering to roll call. Of the four not voting, President Hoover's leaders have made an administration issue.

The vote was one of the largest recorded in Senate history, but was not enough to carry the tariff bill. The House, in passing its farm bill, did not vote on the administration proposal since it was ruled out on a point of order. Republican House leaders were confident that they could have defeated it with their large majority, however, and Senate administration leaders are now counting on elimination of the administration section when the two measures are introduced for adjustment of differences. At the same time they are sure over the amount of time which probably will be required to bring about that result.

With nearly 5000 registered during the past four days at the 65th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Dental Society, held at the Hotel Statler, and which comes to a close tomorrow at 2 p. m. with a golf match at Commonwealth Country Club golf links, officials predict a record attendance.

Falls to His Death While Boarding Ship

Cartier, N. J., May 9 (AP)—Loring Neale, 35, of New York, fell from the dock to the ship, Martin Quinlan, of the New York, N. Y., line, and was drowned, William Neal, first to negotiate the passage, looked back as he came down, striking his head on the pier of the dock and falling into the water.

Mexico City, May 9 (AP)—Opinion that a way would be found out of Mexico's church-state difficulties prevailed in many quarters in Mexico City today as the full import of President Portes Gil's stand was recognized.

The President was seen here as having issued an invitation to Archbishop Ruiz to the Vatican for the celebration of the centenary of the birth of Christ the King.

This, it was believed, might be done by the priest proposing a meeting himself with Portes Gil, or by saying the entire matter before the Vatican for decision.

Bay State Folk Visit Hearst Paris Bazaar

Parts May 9—The following are recent visitors to the Hearst Newspapers Information Bureau: Albert J. Fairbanks, Day of Worcester, Mass., and George Faxon, Boston, are announced.

PAL OF HOPPE

IN 30 DAYS FOR LIBERTY

Albert Aldridge, 23, who was serving a long term for trying to help the slaver, Stephen Hoppe, get away from Dedham jail last year, escaped today from State prison.

He tried some bricks out of the wall of his cell, climbed through a ventilator to the roof, bored a hole with an auger and hit in a corner of the roof, attached a wire and to that a sheet and lowered himself to the roof of the death house, thence slipped over the wall on to Rutherford ave.

Footprints in the dirt in the ventilator showed he climbed it in his bare feet. He left most of his prison clothes in his cell, showing that he had others in which to see, probably having smuggled them from the clothing shop where he worked.

This makes Aldridge's third jail break. He previously escaped from Dedham some time before the Hoppe attempt and in 1927 took French leave from State prison. In both these instances he was recaptured.

He was occupying a cell next to Hoppe in Dedham jail last year when the latter made his dramatic attempt to escape, in which two men were later shot and killed by guards. He was later sent to State prison.

Aldridge's escape was similar to that made by Barney across years ago, except that prison officials have made flight by the top of the ventilator impossible since that time and as a result Aldridge had to knock a hole in the roof.

Density Commissioner of Correction Edward C. B. Reilly went to Charlestown to make a personal investigation, with Warden Henshaw assisting. It is believed Aldridge may seek work as a wood turner, which is his trade. He was unmarried.

Girl Stabbed in Breast

Danbury, Conn., May 9—A slaver, who has been terrorizing his city for two months, found his third victim when he plunged a sharp instrument into the right breast of Miss Florence Lattin, a girl of 14, as she was walking with her sister.

New Haven, Conn., May 9—Francis M. Bigelow, former Harvard track captain, and Boston and Worcester business man, quietly slipped away from the New Haven hospital, where he had been recovering from a heart attack suffered in Madison Town Court Saturday, when he appeared to answer to charges of looting a cottage at Madison of stolen furniture.

Mrs. Bigelow called for her husband and with her he was released. Bigelow has been raised to $5000, it is announced.

HOW MAN ESCAPED PRISON

Staff artist's diagram shows how Albert Aldridge, noted jailbreaker, escaped from State prison by a ventilator shaft and with a wire let himself down onto the roof of the death house and then dropped over the wall onto Rutherford ave. (Staff photo.)

UNION FAVORS OLD PLAN OF ARBITRATION

"Why change now, after 25 years of satisfactory dealings?" was the position taken today by union members opposing a change in the system of arbitration of disputes between their union and the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

This position was emphasized at the hearing before the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation at the State House. The company closed its case today, and the union presented its case through its attorney, James H. Vasey, Jr.

Haverhill Child Is Badly Injured

Haverhill, May 9—Seven-year-old Gladis di Pietro of Laurel ave., Bradford, was struck and seriously injured last night by a team of horses owned by police to have been driven by Charles T. Doe of Maywood st., Worcester. She was taken to Hale Hospital. Three of the child's teeth were knocked out and she received cuts on the legs and chest, and possible fracture of the jaw. The accident occurred in front of her home.

SINCLAIR MAY STAY IN JAIL

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Harry H. Sinclair, oil millionaire, is likely to know before he finishes his today sentence in Washington whether another sentence, calling for six months, is to be enforced against him.

The term he is serving is for contempt of the Senate during the Reppert Donis oil inquiry. The violation sentence hanging over him was imposed for contempt of court in shadowing jurors selected for his other trial.

The Supreme Court now has Sinclair's appeal from the six month sentence under consideration.

7 Officers Needed to Secure a Pint

Lynn court officers now know that it's hard to get a pint. In a liquor case trial it was told that the services of six patrolmen and an sergeant were needed to obtain a pint of liquor in a raid conducted out on the premises at 402 Washington st.

This small amount, however, was there enough in the eyes of the court, to merit a fine of $200, and Mrs. Catherine Sexta, who was found guilty of keeping and exchanging liquor, was fined that much, she appealed.

EASY TO GET IN; HARD TO GET OUT

NACRMEIN GIRLS' DEATHS IN SHOOTING

Washington, May 9—A grand jury refused to indict Policemen Clyde O. Rouse for shooting Herman Fleming, an alleged rum-runner, during the course of a chase on April 24.

The action exonerates Rouse and he will be restored to duty. Rouse's action in shooting Fleming brought about several hot debates in Congress, during which he was both approved and condemned.

Real Spring Now on Way

Bunny skies and rising temperatures are predicted in Boston for the next two days on the eastern fringe of an area of spring-like weather covering the entire country today westward to the Rockies.

A localized disturbance whirling off the Carolan Capes is a potential threat to the Atlantic seaboard, but the bureau here believes that storm will pass to the sea.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Fair tonight and Friday; slowly rising temperature; Friday: moderate weather with the chance of rain.

MASSACRE OF 3 JUST MORAN'S MESSAGE'

Chicago, May 9 (GNS)—"Just a message from 'Bugs' Moran's boys," was Deputy Police Commissioner Stege's description today of the murders of three notorious Chicago gangsters whose bodies, riddled with dum-dum bullets, were found in Hammond, Ind.

"This 'little massacre,' Stege said, 'was the answer to the 'big massacre' of seven Moran gangsters who were lined up and slaughtered in a North Side garage three months ago."

Those found "on the spot" in Hammond were John Realise and Albert Anselmi, former bodyguards for "Scarface" Al Capone, and Joseph Quigley, ruler of Chicago Realism, who, Stege said, was "too ambitious to live."

"There was a rumor," said Stege, "that the Moran gang had lost its head under machine gun fire. These new murders are an announcement to the contrary."

Coroner Herman Bunsen also named the Moran band for the triple killing.

"It's the old eye-for-an-eye and tooth-for-a-tooth racket," he said.

ESCORT BODY OF HOLY CROSS BOY

Worcester, May 9—Accompanied by an escort of priests attached to Holy Cross College, and a group of fellow-students, the body of Robert E. Clarke, 21-year-old junior, was taken to his home at Bell Harbor, Long Island, N. Y., for burial.

Clarke's death was reported as accidental by Dr. Frederick H. Baker, medical examiner, following an investigation which disclosed he had fallen down a flight of stairs.

Rev. George Stronach, Rev. Arthur Michael, S. J.; Robert Lee, who was Clarke's roommate; John Langford, president of the junior class; Justine Murphy, president of the senior class; Joseph C. Kennedy and Alphonse Gately went to New York with the body.

Before the departure there were prayers at a local funeral residence, read by Rev. Fr. E. E. Clarke was popular at Holy Cross and was a member of the Metropolitan Club, composed of students from Greater New York.

BELGIUM BALKS AT YOUNG PLAN

Paris, May 9 (AP)—Conflict in the allied nations' camp over young plan of the German republicans under proposals of Owen D. Young, American chairman of the committee of experts, has spread to Belgium.

Brussels dispatches complain bitterly that Young's proposal reduces Belgium's share by about $204,000,000 and that the question of reimbursement for the paper marks issued in Belgium during the German occupation be left for subsequent negotiations.

Such later negotiations, Belgians say, might easily invite Germany to seek again the restoration of Prussia of the towns of Eupen and Malmédy, thus attacking the Treaty of Versailles.

BEST TITLE LEADERS WILL COMPETE

Miss Virginia M. Ruby of Providence, who was recently awarded the title of "Miss New England" in the "Typical American Girl" contest conducted by Smart Set Magazine and sponsored by the Boston Evening American, will compete with 17 other young women for the national award of $2000 and a trip to Europe, in New York next week.

All the girls in the contest will arrive in New York on Monday morning. They will be taken directly to the Montclair Hotel.

The first day will be devoted to getting acquainted, to unpacking, taking of photographs, and shopping tours. It will be topped off with a dinner at the Hotel Montclair to be given by the staff of Smart Set Magazine.

And next day they will be ready to start back home.

HUB CRUISERS SEE BEAUTIES OF YOSEMITE

Yosemite National Park, Cal. May 8.—The Boston "land cruisers" coated into this valley of wonders. The headlines of the coach picked up three beautiful deer on the highway beneath the towering bulk of El Capitan, and an inquisitive bear tried to argue the right of way as the coach neared the hotel in the heart of the reservation. The Boston pilgrims went to bed with high hopes of glorious sight-seeing. The Bostonians were off early on a coach trip to the Mariposa Grove of big trees. They arrived all of the natural wonders from the floor of the valley. The coach returned them to the hotel and they boarded their special train for San Francisco. A snowball fight between Walter A. Hawkins and J. J. Scully on one side and M. D. Liming and L. E. Dieke on the other was staged on the mountain road. The younger team of Liming and Dieke was routed by Hawkins' strategy. It called, "There's a bear, and charged when his opponents turned to investigate the bear's approach. It was a day of fun and pleasure which capped the climax of a trip replete with thrills.

Less Whist; More Care in Buying Is Urged

Springfield, May 8.—Living costs and other leading economic questions were debated at the school of citizenship conducted by Massachusetts League of Women Voters at Springfield College. Prof. John Calder of the college spoke on "Chain Stores." More intelligent buying was urged, and women who are better versed in bridge than in household economies in purchases were ridiculed by several speakers. Mrs. Truworthy White of Boston, who presided, said that women who now spend 80 per cent of the family income should use judgment in buying commodities.

STUDENT DEATH PISTOL SOUGHT IN A BOG

field where the body was found.

Wearing rubber boots and equipped with pumps, shovels, iron rods and a metal detector, Sheriff George L. Geer of Hartford County, with John J. Kelleher and Carl Tucker of the State attorney's office, went over the ground inch by inch.

They were joined by Coroner's Physician Henry M. Costello, who revealed that the "bullet" was found five minutes after being shot, and that, unconsciously, he was immediately there, precluding the possibility of him having thrown away the weapon even if there were any other indications of suicide.

Dr. Costello said his investigation had revealed nothing that would cause him to change the finding of homicide, and that tomorrow he would file a report with Forensic J. Gilbert Calhoun that Huntington was murdered.

MOTHER IN COLLAPSE.
Further news of the murder theory was found in the hands of the victim's mother, where the fatal bullet entered his left temple and left the head behind the right ear.

Apparently the only person who will put any credence in the suicide theory is County Detective Hickey.

Mrs. Mary Clark Huntington, wealthy mother of Walter, collapsed at her home today and was placed under the care of a physician.

The collapse occurred shortly after the questioning of a friend of the family, whose name was withheld by Detective Hickey, in charge of the investigation of the slaying.

It had previously been announced that a statement would be issued today in behalf of the family of young Huntington, who have been closely guarded in their home following the discovery of the crime yesterday.

Mrs. Huntington, her remaining son, Clark, and his sister, Mary, all had refused to talk for publication and had secluded themselves in the house after the brother and sister had returned from Cambridge, where they cleaned out Walter's room.

In the meantime, the authorities were straining every faculty to discover a clue to the perpetrator of the killing, now believed to have been some one known to the victim.

The only evidence on which they have to work is the exploded shell of a .38-caliber slug used in an automatic pistol, which was found near the body.

Some of the authorities were inclined to believe that the presence of this shell tended to prove that young Huntington was shot to death on the spot where his body was found.

Detectives were concentrating their effort on an attempt to trace the shell, which it was believed should be difficult, in a tremendous effort, and there is no identifying number on each slug.

In connection with the suicide theory, at first entertained by Detective Hickey, experts declared it was not tenable. They insisted it was homicide.

She's Been Won

would have been impossible for Huntington to have shot himself in the left temple and have the bullet range upward as it did.

Their theory was that Huntington was either shot by someone shorter than himself or that the fatal wound was inflicted when he was lying on the ground.

It was learned that there never had been a revolver in the Huntington home, or, at least, this statement was accredited to Hickey.

The chief element of mystery in Huntington with the crime is how young Huntington managed to drop from sight in the short distance between his house and the drug store of Edward Prouy, to which, according to his mother, he was headed when last seen.

Although it is only 150 yards from the Huntington home to the store, the youth never reached there, and no one has been found.

VOTE FOR POWER TRUST PROBE

Before closing their executive session and announcing their decision the members were in touch with Governor Allen through President Bacon of the Senate and Speaker Saltonstall of the House, who left the meeting room and went to the Governor's office for a conference.

The resolve which the committee will report is a redraft of both the Hagan and Sawyer orders combining salient features of each.

The investigation will be of the broadest sort under the terms of the resolve and the ways and means committees of the House and Senate will be asked to appropriate $25,000 for expenses, summoning of witnesses and records and other uses.

This action follows hearings at which legislators and others deposed a probe and at which President A. R. Graustein of the International Paper & Power Co. and President Frank D. Comerford of the New England Power Association were witnesses.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour. Acid kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one intestine, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 30 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Lucky Strike is a blend of choice tobaccos whose toasted flavor thrills the taste, whose toasting process eliminates impurities, and, as 20,679 physicians testify, makes Luckies less irritating. Toasting elevates Lucky Strike to a plane of quality which no other cigarette can approach. The constant care of experts assures the quality of Luckies. Its choice by millions proves its superiority and its truthful answer to selfish claims.

SEEKS RETURN OF FUNDS IN STOCK DEAL

Clarence E. Clement of Boston, a dealer in investment securities, filed in the superior court a bill in equity against George G. Moore of New York city for an accounting between $50,000 and $750,000, which Clement says is due him in a joint venture to enhance the market for and price of stock of the United Electric Coal Corporation. Mr. Clement, also in part satisfaction of his claim, seeks to reach and apply a fund of $101,722, deposited with Hutchins and Parkin, an attorney, in the name of the United Electric Coal Corporation, and an injunction is asked against Hutchins and Parkin to restrain them from paying any of the fund to Moore.

It is alleged by Clement that through his efforts from February 1, 1928, to November, 1928, the stock of the United Electric Coal Corporation was sold in the market from $20 a share to $85.50 a share.

Mr. Clement further alleges that in violation of his agreement with Moore, Moore secretly sold some of the stock and voting trust certificates through others than Clement; that he failed to furnish money and to deposit securities and secure credit. As a result, Clement says, he had to use much of his own funds to protect margin accounts.

MOTHER MOOD BY AMERICAN'S $1 INSURANCE

A return of 1000 per cent on a single dollar invested last summer for an accident insurance policy sponsored by the Boston Evening American, has helped a stricken mother bear the grief of the loss of her only child.

Mrs. Flora M. White of 38 Ocean ave., North Weymouth, was the sole beneficiary of a policy taken out last July by her son, Harold Smith White, Mr. White, aged 26, was killed last February in an automobile accident in Savannah, Ga.

When a representative of the Boston Evening American presented the check to Mrs. White in the office of J. Harvey White, attorney, 14 Beacon st., she expressed her appreciation of the act of the newspaper.

Mrs. White said she had always been a reader of the paper and regarded it as "the friend of the public."

She was greatly surprised at the promise to loan an only son, especially when he helped support it. It had been hardly a week since the claim was forwarded to the insurance company in Chicago. Allowing three days each way for mail, that would indicate unusual promptness.

"Mothers who know what it is to lose a son, especially when he helped support it, are not likely to be so easily satisfied," Mrs. White said. "Her son had been pianist at the St. James theatre for several years, and also played in Boston restaurants and at social functions."

HILL IN SECRET ROMANCE WITH STAGE BEAUTY

New York, May 9.—Unaccompanied by the sweetheart whom he intended to wed secretly next month, the body of Edwin (Cowboy) Hill, 26-year-old New York University grid star, accidentally killed near the campus shortly before Tuesday midnight, was en route to its last resting place in Burgetstown, Pa., where Hill was born.

The fiancée, whose existence was known to but a few of the dead football hero's intimates, is Miss McClintock, 24-year-old blonde beauty, of the Bronx. She collapsed on hearing of Hill's death.

Miss McClintock is the daughter of William McClintock, architect. She has danced to private theatricals and in vaudeville.

Only three hours before he had engaged in the fatal scuffle with Patman Joseph Greene in the police booth at 181st st. and University ave., Hill had called at Miss McClintock's home to tell her he had obtained tickets for a musical show Saturday night.

The policeman was encountered by Dist. Atty. John E. McKeen, but still faces police trial for violation of the rules in an earlier Hill and his roommate, John Bunyan, former Violet football player, to enter the booth. He has been stripped of his shield.

You Must DISTINGUISH Between Real Furniture Values, and Mere "Low Prices"

NO COMMODITY you use is bought so cheaply, so utterly in the dark as the furniture in your home. Hence the opportunity for the wide disparity in prices we so often see.

Two parlor suits, for example, can be built to look exactly alike—same size, same design, same covering, and still be radically different as to value.

The inside workmanship and material can make one suite worth double money, or more.

Frames are made of unseasoned inferior wood, thrown together without proper dovetails, bracing or glue.

Spring are reduced in number, cheapened in quality, and half-filled with sawdust or shavings.

They are set upon wood slats or steel bands to save webbing.

The filling is anything but satisfactory to the common exterior.

ONE of the best parlor suite values we have ever been able to offer. Richly carved frame, with covering of mohair, except on outer back and sides, which are in a harmonizing fabric. The reverse sides of cushions are in a variety of materials and color. Full web spring construction and filling of selected moss.

ATTORNEY FOR INCOME TAX CUT

Reduction of governmental expenses through elimination of needless governmental activities is a thought presented today by Alexander Lincoln, prominent Boston lawyer and former attorney-general in the nationwide discussion of Federal Income Tax.

"The idea of bringing about a reduction in the Federal tax on earned income as advocated by the Boston Evening American and other Boston newspapers appeals to me strongly," he said today.

"The American and I are agreed that much of the cause of the taxation is found in the many improper activities of the government. I believe that substantial reductions could be made if these activities were eliminated.

"I realize that there are strong arguments for retained taxation, but on the other hand, it seems to me a generally accepted principle to base taxation rates upon the ability of the individual to pay. Under present conditions, it seems at times that the proportion is unfair.

"I think that much can be done in relieving the burden now placed on the average earned income. This could be eased, but I do not believe it should be entirely eliminated."

CAST AT HOWLS EXCELLENT IN CASE PLAY

Henrik Ibsen, when he wrote "The Master Builder," must have looked into the future and visualized the challenge of youth that was to come and change the order of life on this sphere.

This philosophy, exemplified by the excellent Civic Repertory Company, with Miss Eva Le Gallienne as director, and appreciated by an exceptionally large audience at the Millis Street Theater last night, runs through the three acts of this wonderful drama.

Here is portrayed in vivid Ibsen style the fear of old age against the encroaching trend when youth shall step in and wrest the laurels of profession from the laurels of old age. In "The Master Builder" the drama and drama of other times and other conditions clash with the spirit of the new both gaining and both losing in the end.

Egon Brecher, in his role as Harald Solness, the master builder, and Miss Le Gallienne as Hilma Wangel, the tough and calculating girl from the country, brought to the Boston playhouse some of the best acting that has been seen there for many long days.

Alma Solness, wife of the master builder, played by Alice Kruger, brought out the agony of motherhood, as she felt the result of losing twin boys in childhood, through a fire on the ruins of which her husband rose to success. One could feel sorry for poor Alma. The master builder's simple bookkeeper, and one could appreciate the solicitude of the family physician, Dr. Herdal, played by Savre Crawford, the married wife and the distracted husband.

Lone Copy of Bible Missing From B. U. Library

The stealing or straying of books from the college of Business Administration Library at Boston University is no longer a trivial matter, according to Miss Margaret Locke, the college librarian. For someone has walked off with the only copy of the Bible in the college library. What Has Happened So Far Chatta Mason, show girl, meets William Carl Alban. He becomes interested in her, feeling that he owes her dead father a debt, offers to educate Chatta that she may realize her ambition of becoming a star. He offers his seaside home to Chatta and her invalid mother. They move there and Chatta commences her studies. She meets David McIntire, the famous ace, and he interests her. Bent on knowing him better, she takes flying instructions from him. Alban sends her a ring as a gift. She tells Alban that she will never fall in love. Her career is all that matters.

(Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER 4
THERE was a two-day theater up in the Bronx, Ginger said, where one might get a week's engagement in a dance act. It would be a certain rouser and probably would not pay a lot, but if one needed money—"You darling!" Chatta cried, "I'll rush up there as fast as I can!"

It was even worse than she expected; an audience only too eager to vent ribald criticism.

It was only then Alban found out what she had been doing and was as nearly furious as he ever was to become. "During the candle at both ends—what do you mean by it, Chatta? Have I given you reason to think that necessary?"

"Of course not, Carl. I want to help myself as much as I can."

"A poor way to help yourself!"

He seemed so offended that David Begins to Wonder Where Chatta Gets So Much Money

One day when David walked to the car with her and she saw him looking it over, the shining nickel the expensive grace of it, she thought suddenly that her position as guest of William Carl Alban at 2-5 Second and her indebtedness to her father's old friend would be difficult to explain to this frank-eyed boy.

Creator was for leaving for Texas. "Come in about played out around here," he said.

David shook his head. "Not enough. Angel-wings gave us a bid for supper Sunday night."

"Three rousing cheers!" The Ace threw his cap to the ceiling.

"And she said there wouldn't be anyone else. She's an actress!"

"Hub? Actress?" The Ace stared. "Kind of actress. The Ace said, 'I knew an actress once had a place in the country and a $3000 car, but she'd been trouper 20, 30 years. This girl a chorus girl?'"

David rapped out. "You make me sick!"

He tried to strangle his face, though wariness remained in his eyes. "Nothing to get sore about, kid! She's a cute trick. I just kind of figure—say, she looks expensive, doesn't she? Family's probably not coin," he added with a great effort at tact.

"She's studying—" But the thought had caught in the boy's mind, making him wonder. "Listen, Ace," said David, "that Anders dame is your girl. I never told her she was the world's 'wonder' pilot, was I? Don't you tell any more of that shoving her off on me when she comes around here."

COOLIDGE LASSMAN SIGNS BOOK IS VICTIM CONTRACT OF CYST

New York, May 8.—The contract for the autobiography of Calvin Coolidge has just been signed by the former President and the book will be published in the autumn by the Comstock Corporation. After attending the meeting of the directors of the New York University yesterday, Mr. Coolidge telephoned Joseph Anthony, editor, and J. C. Kimes, secretary of the publishing house, to meet him at his hotel. There he signed the contract, he had drawn up himself. It then took a train for Northampton. The book covers Mr. Coolidge's life from childhood in Vermont to his retirement from the presidency.

While vacationing in Florida during the winter he seemed to have recovered from a skull fracture and clot on the brain, but treatment for pusling tremors in his partially paralyzed left arm revealed that a cyst was deeply rooted in his brain.

A major operation will be performed within a few days to remove the cyst. He will be a cripple if the operation fails, according to specialists. But the giant athlete has not been told that a cyst is pending.

The Curious Quizzer

Lynn Folk Answer His Daily Question and Pose for Picture

THE QUESTION
Do you agree with Mayor Bauer that failure of the new tariff bill means the tank of the leather and shoe industry in New England?

DOLLY GODDARD, Baker st.—In my opinion, Mayor Bauer is right in his statement. The condition of the shoe industry of Lynn is bad enough now with the present labor conditions and wage scales, but the failure of the new tariff bill would make the outlook for the working people of Lynn very dark. This city has always been prosperous and I hope it will always be so.

But the way things are going now, there is a slim chance of anything but grim coming this way.

GEORGE ALLIE, Quincy ter.—My answer to the question is most emphatically "No."

The shoe industry in Lynn is not as bad as it is in the near future when Lynn will not boast of a shoe industry at all. Of course, the factories could be used for another purpose, but the change will take time and money.

Since the Chamber of Commerce or somebody representing Lynn would get going and find some way to get over the tariff obstacle, co-operating with outside shoe cities, of course, we might be able to stave off the crisis that looms ahead.

FRANK McKENNA, Linden at.—The failure of the tariff bill means that the shoe industry in Lynn will be in a very bad way. I am sure that the shoe industry in Lynn will not be able to compete with the shoe industry in other parts of the world.

But the way things are going now, there is a slim chance of anything but grim coming this way.

GEORGE ALLIE, Quincy ter.—My answer to the question is most emphatically "No."

CHelsea HIGH SCHOOL YOUTH IN U.S. COURT

Simon Nymman of Bloomfield st., Chelsea, 171-year-old high school junior, faces a federal grand jury and possible suspension from classes because of his failure to name the "higher-ups" in a Chelsea-Boston bootlegging ring.

The discovery of 30 gallons of alcohol by government dry agents in a truck he was operating on Portland st., Boston, led to the schoolboy's arrest on March 25 last, on charges of transporting and possessing liquor.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Jersey on April 12, Nymman pleaded not guilty and said he was hired after school hours by an unknown man to carry the liquor from Boston for delivery to another unidentified man in Chelsea.

SAYS HE CAN'T NAME THEM.
He asserted the Chelsea man was to meet him in that city at a pre-arranged point and direct him where to unload the alcohol.

Commissioner Jersey, after hearing Nymman's story, said he would dismiss the charges if either of the men mentioned by Nymman in the transaction was produced in court. Several continuances of the case were granted by the commissioner awaiting information of the "higher-ups" from Nymman, but today the youth appeared in court and admitted his inability to identify them.

NOT FOR BREVITY.
Since the arrest of Nymman, government chemists discovered the contents of the alleged contraband.

Braves Battle Cards at the Wigwam; Seibold Pitches

TO BE OUT TO REGAIN N.L. LEAD

Braves Angling for Services of Fast Outfielder; Have Chance to Strengthen

By NICK FLATLEY

Harry Seibold, leading Brave pitcher, will try to bring the Trib to back on the National League roof this afternoon. Harry, who has won his two ball games, has been elected to make it three in a row in the final Cardinal pastime.

The shagging champions can be halted only by smart pitching. They must straightaway stuff, no matter how good. The Seibold party is one of those shrewd odds-on bets, who miss things up for the hitters, and bluffs his way along through all sorts of difficulties. He's one of the few sound members of the Tribal staff, which has been riddled badly by colds and similar minor ills in the past two weeks.

Boys who were sitting on the bench through the cold ball games suffered more than the chaps who were working. El Brandt was the exception to that, collecting a rold in a strained neck muscle. He is out in uniform, but will have to rest for a while longer.

Bob Smith, Perry Jones and Seibold are sound and healthy, and the three of them will have to do most of the banner bearing in the upcoming series with the Reds and the Cubs.

PAIN NOT READY
These last few days Judge Fuchs has been experimenting with his nose string right hander. He found that neither Greenfield nor Lavett were ready to go to the press, but he will have to do some back in again as soon as possible.

The Judge is getting ready to do some cutting. If his pitchers do not deliver they will be sold down the river.

The last couple of staff explosions have had one good result: they gave the owner-manager a chance to use young Bruce Cunningham. This kid from the Coast has all the signs of a big league pitcher. His two workouts have given him the confidence he needed.

He looked very good against the Cards, snuffing them out when they were in the middle of a wild batting mood. Bruce has worked off that first big game nervousness, and will be set in to start any one of these days.

CUNNINGHAM CLASSY
He's a courageous youngster, and a real ball player. He gave a leading exhibition that made the boys sit up and take notice, and he doesn't bat like a pitcher at all. This kid made an impressive record in the Pacific circuit, and has been schooled very intimately ever since he joined the Braves.

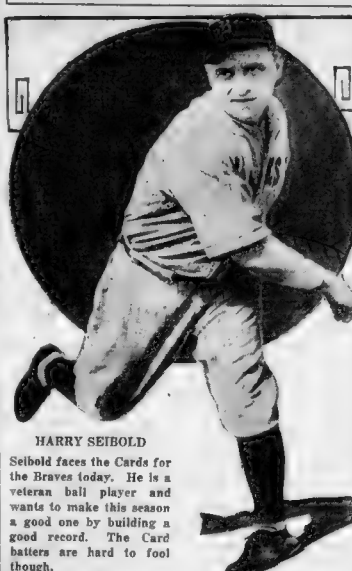

Will Southworth, Card manager, has one of our New England clods, but his act is enough to be kept from directing his availing ball club. He intended to use Elaid in the box today, figuring that the young man is ready to become a regular pitcher.

Judge Fuchs admits that he has some foundation for hoping for outfield strength in the immediate future. He has been talking trade for a couple of big league outfielders and several minor organizations, and is all ready to part out a wad of money and a few athletes.

MAY GET FIELDER
Richbourg will be back in the game by the end of the week, but the Judge realizes that he needs at least another good hitting fly catcher. He has his own doubts, and it looks from the outside as if he would do business.

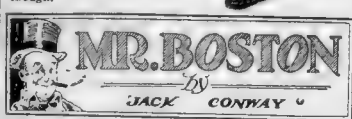

One more gardener and another right-hand pitcher to go along consistently with Smith and Seibold would make the Braves a club exclusively to be feared right down to October.

READY FOR CARDS

HARRY SEIBOLD

Seibold faces the Cards for the Braves today. He is a veteran ball player and wants to make this season a good one by building a good record. The Card batters are hard to fool though.

NOMINATE Freeman (Red) Pepper, Buffalo middleweight, as the most truthful man in the world," said Mr. Boston today.

"He admits that friend wife, Mrs. Freeman Pepper, is his manager."

"Mrs. Freeman called her position to the attention of the world when she applied to the New York Athletic Commission for a manager's license."

"I have always been my husband's manager, but I would like the official okay of the boxing fathers," said Mrs. Pepper.

"Does your husband admit you are his manager?" demanded Bill Muldoon.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Pepper.

"Then have him put it in writing and we won't let him make a move in the boxing game without your official approval," remarked Muldoon.

"Most wives manage their husbands somehow or other. Only they don't get the one-third cut that goes to pilots of box fighters. Mrs. Pepper, as official manager of her Red, will collect his ring earnings and then pay him off according to their contract."

"If Red and the kidnap get into a managerial jam, the New York Athletic Commission will probably decide that the scheduling controversy is only a minor league mump. I have seen husbands and wives who couldn't even agree what day of the week it was. We'll sit back and watch the shooting."

MR. BOSTON took a peek at the latest fielder dopp sheets.

"These are days of startling boxing up," declared the veteran. "Gerrit Jones, on the short end of a 15 in 1 hitting, handed Al Melio a reverse. Big Boy Rawson, another underdog, knocked Joe Monte for a row of goals, while Johnny Blake, touted as a sure thing, finished second best to Emmet Russo."

The boys laugh at reputations as they grip their teeth and let hay makers fly. None of the champions and near champions can afford to fly. They must keep in condition and fight at their best at all times if they are to halt the drive of the many youngsters who are determined to reach the pugilistic heights."

MR. BOSTON met Jack Sheehan, veteran referee, at the Arena the other night.

"How is your injured hand getting along, Jack?" queried the veteran.

"I have lost the thumb, but the rest of my hand will be all right in a few weeks," replied Sheehan. "I just got a peek at Big Boy Rawson and he is as dangerous as the buzz saw which caused all of my trouble."

COL. BOB MCKIRDY has reason to be happy over the success of Rawson, chirped Mr. Boston. "After Bob Mills knocked out Big Boy, the colonel insisted that Mike Carr's batter would make the grade. Bob matched Big Boy with Hambro's Kelley and Joe Monte and it didn't take him five minutes to flatten both of these men."

THE public loves a heavyweight who can fight. Rawson should prove one of the best boxing attractions of the year. By the time McKirdy starts promoting shows at Fenway Park, Big Boy should be ready for some first-class opposition.

A L LACEY didn't exaggerate when he declared that Big Boy can knock the opposition stiff with either hand. When Rawson develops a defense, he will be in a position to go after some of the fastest finishers. Big Boy has plenty of speed, but must be taught to hold his hands higher."

Harvard Eights
Dedicated Engineers
Harvard freshmen and 150-pound varsity crews easily defeated their Tech counterparts in races postponed from Saturday and Monday night on the Charles river bank.

Captain Fred Sullivan's lead Harvard varsity gained a commanding lead at the start and increased it over the mile and five-statenha course to win by more than four lengths.

Hubbell Pitches No Hit, No Run Game

Sonnenberg Earns $100,000 as World's Mat King

CHAMPION TACKLES DEVITO

Share of Gate at Arena Bout Is Likely to Be $100,000

By JACK OONWAY

GUS SONNENBERG, who will defend his title as world's heavyweight wrestling champion against Joe Devito at the New Boston Arena a week from tonight, has earned $100,000 since he wrestled the title from Strangler Lewis at the Boston Garden last January.

Dynamite will complete his second Western invasion this week and begin touring the circuit at Harry Kelley's gym in Chicago. He had previously won the title from Lewis at the Boston Garden in a $50,000 bout. He is now the world's most popular wrestler, and his share of a $100,000 gate is expected to be $100,000. He is now the world's most popular wrestler, and his share of a $100,000 gate is expected to be $100,000.

Jack Conway, Sonnenberg's manager, netted $50,000. His big money shot was a $10,000 purse which he got for his meeting with Stanley Bismack at Los Angeles. As champion, Sonnenberg has wrestled 24 times. His average purse has been about $2000. Joe Alvarez declares the Sonnenberg-Devito bout will attract a $50,000 gate at the Arena. Sonnenberg will receive 10 per cent of the receipts, while Devito will get 20 per cent. Sonnenberg's share of the gate, if the gate is $100,000, will be $10,000.

SONNENBERG's nervousness and spectacular flying tackle have made him a big attraction wherever he has shown. He has always drawn the big crowd, and he has been known to be so nervous that he has fainted before a fight.

Unlike most title holders, Sonnenberg has not picked his opponent. He has taken on all-comers and has yet to lose a single fight.

It is believed that Devito will give the champion a real test. The Italian heavyweight has defeated Stanley Ziska, former world champion, and has won a $10,000 purse in a fight with Sonnenberg. He is a big wrestler and is expected to be a big attraction wherever he goes.

There has been a big buzz about the fight between Sonnenberg and Devito. It is expected to be a big attraction wherever it goes. Sonnenberg is a big wrestler and is expected to be a big attraction wherever he goes.

EAGLE CAPTAIN SHOWS POWER

By DICK McSWEENEY

Schoolboy baseball was today and tomorrow serve as preliminaries to the more important diamond conflicts billed for Saturday.

Of the four games scheduled for today, the Wentworth Institute-Huntington clash shapes up as the best offering.

The Institute nine has made a fine record for itself this season.

Lawrence will go out of the State to oppose Nabash; McCombs will be on the mound for Lawrence, and with Plac, Matt, and Mitchell playing their usual fine defense game in the field, Lawrence has a good chance to win.

Tilton Academy will have to play tight baseball to turn back the leading St. John's prep nine.

Low, Biggs, St. John's pitcher, has been good well this season and is set to find the Tilton batsmen to be having. Tilton's infield play is not up to standard, but a few more games will give the Tilton outfit the confidence it needs.

CRUSADER NINE FACES FORDHAM

By DICK McSWEENEY

Holy Cross clashes with Fordham at New York tomorrow in the second game of their home and home series.

The Crusader defeated the Gotham nine last Saturday in a hard battle, and Coach Jack Barry expects that Boston outfit will be a difficult team to beat on their own field.

Barry plans to send Gene Hebert, captain of the Crusader, to New York tomorrow to face the Gotham nine.

Hebert turned in a fine game last week, and if the weather is favorable should hand the Gotham nine another defeat.

Jersey Shore will start at third base instead of Fitter Cahill, who has been laid up with an injured foot.

Many Dainty Recipes

The latest news and sketches of fashions appear each day on the magazine page of the Boston Evening American. Also Martha Lee's helps on cooking and the menu. Recipes of the most approved chefs are among the many features appearing here and should be read by every woman.

Shoulder in Season

ALTHOUGH smoked meats are always in season, they are especially well adapted to warm weather cooking, because of their fine keeping qualities. The fact that these meats may be smoked in a variety of ways, and that the process is so simple, makes them a most desirable addition to the menu.

The economy of this cut is worthy of consideration and the results of experimental work, estimating the actual cost of interest to you. In 1924, the University of Illinois Experiment Station found that a picnic shoulder at 25c, a pound was considerably more reasonable as a source of lean meat and therefore a better buy than ven at 40c a pound or loin at 40c a pound.

The smoked shoulder weighs from four to twelve pounds, the picnic meat is fairly well developed and therefore it is always well to cook the picnic shoulder in water or cider before baking. The fat is fine grained and usually quite white in color and soft. The flavor of a good grade picnic shoulder is equally as tempting as the ham, as the curing process is done with the greatest care.

HOW TO PREPARE. The general method of preparation is as follows: Scrub a smoked shoulder, place in a large kettle and cover with cold water. Bring to the boiling point, boil for one hour and remove with hot water from the tap, reduce the flame and simmer, allowing 30 minutes to the pound, counting the cooking period from the time the water is at the boiling temperature and it is reduced to the simmering point.

If vegetables are to be cooked with the shoulder, add the root vegetables 30 minutes before serving time. Fresh greens require about 10 minutes to cook. To serve a baked shoulder, cook for half an hour or so, place in a baking dish, rub with 3 tapers, mustard and 3 up, grated horseradish. Cover with brown sugar and dot with butter or more cloves. Bake from 35 to 45 minutes in a 300 deg. F. or slow oven until the top is nicely glazed and a golden brown.

TRY OTHER WAYS. Variations: 1. Cook a smoked shoulder about 20 minutes to the pound. Remove from the water, remove any hind, rub with mustard and horseradish if desired, place in baking dish and pour over 1 cup vinegar, 2 cups of fruit juice, 1 cup grape juice, canned pineapple syrup, etc., and bake 10 minutes to the pound, basting frequently. Then cover with pineapple, pinesapples or canned apricots, securing the fruit with a piece of tooth pick. Sprinkle with brown sugar and bake until a beautiful brown.

2. Prepare as suggested above, but instead of covering with the spread with Apple Butter or Apricot Preserves. Sprinkle lightly with brown sugar and brown. Faithfully yours, MARTHA LEE.

Our Work

By LUCY LOWELL. It is interesting and inspiring to note what importance is laid upon work by the most humble tasks by great minds. Work—by which a livelihood is earned or merely the labor of love through which one helps another—there is nothing really higher or finer when we regard it as an opportunity—not a burden weighing us down, destroying youth and joy—but a chance for expression. For it cannot be otherwise than that! Everyone is expressed to some degree, at least by the work he does—and by the quality of what he does you may know the man.

A great deal of the joy of life consists in doing perfectly, or at least to the best of one's ability, everything which he attempts to do. As William Matthews writes in a sense of satisfaction a child in surveying such a work as would be a round table, a small, complete in all its parts, which the student who leaves his work in a slovenly, slipshod, half-finished condition can never know.

"It is this conscientious complete work which turns work into art. The smallest thing, well done, has a certain artistic quality." Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.

Wayside Flowers

THE level of all flowers—those that you see daily nodding their pretty heads by the wayside. No noxious cars for them—they just seem to spring into being overnight. And ruthless hands pull and pluck them from their native soil and try to transplant them into the sheltered garden where every care and attention is showered on them—but what happens? They droop and die!

So when you see a berry of wayside flowers laughing and calling to you, let them be. Don't pluck them and carry them far away to die. Let them stay where they're happiest and most loyal, so that all may see and enjoy their beauty.

They're just like some mistaken Love. Love that takes its beloved and carries it far away and hides him or her, that no one else may see the loveliness and beauty. And what happens then? Love fades and dies and the Beloved withers and fades and it's all over.

So don't be selfish! Let your Beloved enjoy the sunshine and beauty of her natural environment. Let everyone who may see her Love fade and die and the Beloved withers and fades and it's all over.

Irene Bordoni Will Start Her Film Work Soon

By LOUELLA G. PARSONS

Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.

MORGAN FARLEY, the young star who put so much feeling into his performance in "The American Tragedy," has taken himself to Hollywood to look over his first film work in the city of celluloid. Before William H. Barry in his role of the male lead, opposite Irene Bordoni in "Companionate." Radio's first talkie to get under way.

Curious about this lad who went to London to play the brother role in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," Bordoni reached California that he had died abroad. But the gossip of Farley's death must be a perfect illusion of Mark Twain's reported demise—for he is said to be much alive in Hollywood.

William J. Cowan will direct this first movie to be made by the youthful Farley. Hedda Hopper, resident in New York, will be heretofore back to the coast by May 17 to play one of the important parts in the same "Companionate." It is difficult to say "companionate" without the "marriage" but maybe we will get used to it.

"NOT guilty—whether heard of or not," said Norman when he told me about his vaudeville sketch, which bears this title. He is leaving today to try a shot out of town. He returns to New York next week after the tryout to play for a season in the good old two-act. Norman is really being sponsored in this act by R. G. O. and it seems mighty much like a training school for the talkies. He will then, armed with all this stage education, go to Hollywood and make movies.

IRENE BORDONI is going to give Beverly Hills, Hollywood, Los Angeles and all the neighborhood suburbs a treat when she arrives in a role of a servant, that might be in a cello, and she has all the favorite restaurateurs out looking for a house so that she may be properly comforted while she is in California during the production of "Paris" her first talkie picture. Irene will have to go some to make the movie stars look twice, for all of them have retires of servants and all of them have beautiful homes.

I WONDER how the June Collyer, a Buddy Rogers' friendship is progressing. No one has said a word in weeks so I cannot say whether Buddy's new car is still parked at June Collyer's front door or whether some other Hollywood leading man is vying for pretty June's smiles.

It sounds as if the Collyer-Rogers romance might be pretty much over for June has just been signed by Paramount to play the society girl in "Illusion" opposite Bud. Dorothy Arzner will direct the picture and Nancy Carroll, I believe, is to have one of the important roles.

HAVE you a little sound projector in your home? Check up if you feel now that talking pictures shown at the home friends are in the class with a Rolis-Rove—you will soon be able to change your mind.

Charles R. Rogers, film producer, and A. P. Blumenthal, one of the rights to a 16-millimeter projector which can be attached to any home projector of any make. They are also putting on the market a small machine with sound project, on a disk. Thirteen special films have already been made for the Blumenthal-Rogers Corporation, organized under the name of the Home Talking Machine and Producing Company. Phil Baker, Eddie Dowling, Patricia and Erno Rago and orchestra are among the names offered.

ONE of the most amazing outcomes of the talkies is the re-making of pictures that were produced less than two years ago and that were a success. "The Gorilla" is one of them. It received favorable notices all over the country and was really one of the best things since "National" ever turned out. Now Warner Brothers will remake it with an all-star cast, adding dialogue, and they are reasonably sure of turning out an amusing comedy.

WHAT they are doing in Hollywood is of interest. Our sports report that Andrea De Requirio, monic and all, is stationed at the Warner Brothers studio to play a part in "General Crack," the Barrymore picture. Over at Universal, Harry Pollard has picked up the megaphone to direct Joseph Schildkraut in "The Barnstormer." Zaft Pitts is also at First National paying a part in Billie Dove's picture, "The Lady Who Dared."

"Wonder if by any chance that can be 'A Most Immoral Lady.' Olive Tilt is making use of her voice at the Warner Brothers' studio by playing a part in "Exile," Dolores Costello's picture.

Household Hints

A cleaning fluid much used by professionals is composed of emulsion of caustic, one-half ounce each of alcohol and ammonia, and one ounce each of chloroform, ether and borax. The articles to be cleaned should be soaked for a short time, then rubbed with the hands, applying to the spots the undiluted borax as though it were soap. The odor evaporates quickly.

A piece of clean white oilcloth is a good substitute for a pastry board. It is more easily cleaned and may be rolled up for use.

Auction Bidding: South makes an introductory bid of one Club. West bids a Spade, North with Spades twice stopped and also double stoppers in both Hearts and Diamonds as well as a stopper in his partner's Club suit, bids one No Trump and the hand is played at that bid.

Contract Bidding: Following South's introductory bid of one Club and West's defensive overall of one Spade, North, with double stoppers in three suits and presumably double stoppers in the fourth suit, by reason of his partner's bid, jumps to four No Trumps, one trick more than game contract in order to invite his partner to try for a Slam. If holding greater strength than the minimum, North is advised to bid South responding with five No Trumps. North asks for a Small Slam and obtains the contract.

MEDICAL MEN TO FIGHT ON DRUGS

By KENNETH CLARK
Washington, May 8.—The American Medical Association has just pledged its full support to the program of Rep. Porter (R) of Pennsylvania to reform narcotic legislation and strengthen enforcement.

During a conference with Porter, Dr. William C. Woodward of Chicago, head of the bureau of legal medicine and legislation of the association, declared the physicians of the country would gladly cooperate in fighting the dope evil.

The Porter bill will attempt to place existing laws on a firmer basis and keep the consumption of dangerous drugs within legitimate channels. It is expected to be ready for the House next week.

To assist scientific experimentation and possibly find non-habit-forming substitutes for opiate narcotics drugs, Dr. Woodward suggested an association of the support and import act which prohibits the entry of manufactured or prepared drugs.

Researches to discover synthetic substitutes for dangerous opium products are already being conducted at the University of Virginia, under the auspices of the National Research Council.
